

Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy explains in details how the company (Globalipay) collects, uses and shares/discloses the information provided by the users on the website Globalipay.com.

It also stands as an agreement between the Company (“Globalipay”, “we”, “our”, or “us”) and the user (“you”). By reading and complying with the policy you approve that you understand and accept the Company’s Privacy Policy Agreement.

User privacy is paramount for Globalipay. We assure our full efforts in protecting the information that you provide us at any cost and against any possible disclosure. This includes any “Personal Data” submitted by the user on this website. The policy agreement also explains the ways and methods deployed to protect the confidentiality and privacy of user data.

Collection of Information

Globalipay website collects two types of information from our users:

1. Information that is collected automatically, such as cookies, when you use the website.
2. Personal information that the user shares voluntarily, such as your name, email id, etc.

Personal Information:

The user has to provide standard personal information to register on the Globalipay website. Users provide basic details at their own consent and in complete agreement with our privacy policies. The standard information includes an email address, name, phone number, alias, Ethereum address, physical address, etc. The use and purpose of the information are mentioned on the website.

By sharing these basic details/information, the user agrees or gives his/her consent for the use of this standard personal data whenever deemed necessary in accordance with terms mentioned in this Privacy Policy.

Automatically Collected Information:

When a user visits or logs into the Globalipay website, the following set of information may be automatically captured.

Log Info: Server log information includes users login details, the pages visited, time spent on the website, the date and time of visit and the websites visited right before and after the user has visited our website.

Device Info: Information about the device (mobile/computer) used by the user to access our website. The information collected includes the device type, screen size, operating system, web browser, etc.

Usage Information: The system automatically records Metadata related to the files uploaded as well as downloaded along with the instances in which a user-specific private key was used. Devices Telemetry info includes storage status, upload/download speeds, etc.

Standard Cookies are used to generate or collect this data. These are small files which reside in your device's web browser which you use to visit a website. Cookies data help us to provide the better user experience. Standard information on the cookie files include IP address, web browser, and user's visit behavior

Use and Disclosure of Information

The user information collected voluntarily and automatically on the Globalipay website will be used specifically for the following purposes only. For any other special cases than those mentioned below Globalipay will ask for your consent and approval.

Purpose of Basic Information

1. To know more about user expectations and preferences and subsequently take steps to do the needful.
2. To Improve the website or launch new products/services through the site.
3. Development and management of the operations of our business.
4. Gain helpful insights from user data and in the process better understand the online activity of website users to determine the popularity of specific content.
5. Carry out tasks for which user consent has been granted.
6. Meet any legal or regulatory requirements of the business.
7. Provide with user requests for information or products/services.
8. Answer your inquiry or communicate with you.
9. Monitor user activity and trends in connection with our website.
10. Protect the property and rights of the Company and associated people.
11. Detect and take action against any unauthorized or illegal activity on the website.

12. Perform functions and events on user's behalf.

Sharing of Information

The information that Globalipay collects from the user might be shared with some or all of the parties mentioned below.

- With existing or future parent companies, partners, subsidiaries and other companies under common ownership with us.
- With third-party service providers working for us.
- Information like username, name, your posts, etc., which you a user may agree to choose to be shared or displayed publicly.
- Information required by a legal process, law or regulation.
- To protect the rights and property of the website and its users in case if your actions are found inconsistent with the website policy.
- Limited information with third parties.

Protection of Personal Data

Globalipay has taken rigorous steps to ensure security of user information available on the Globalipay website. This, however, does not mean that we are held responsible for any unauthorized use of the information provided to us. Despite all firewalls and security standards adopted by us, users must understand that no system is entirely bulletproof, therefore, we can only protect your information, but cannot guarantee its safety.

The Internet is beyond the control of any one specific company or authority. The complexities are infinite. The open nature further exposes internet companies to a barrage of cyber attacks. The internet is way too mysterious and far too open for any one company or person to control it. No matter how much we try, we cannot guarantee that the information you provide to us will not be hacked or altered during or after it is received by us.

The user on his part though can take certain measures for the sake of his own safeguard. The user can disable cookies on his browser. This may, however, result in limited access to the website. However, capping the log information is purely in the hands of the user.

Security on centralized systems always remains a two-way street. We can only do so much and expect our users to be cautious and careful while sharing any personal data on our website.

Also, if you visit another website by clicking on any third-party link on our website and share the data with that website, we won't be responsible to protect that information. By reading this agreement, you agree not to hold our Company or any of our employees, workers, and associates responsible for any loss or damage of information that you may experience on our website.

Storage of Personal Data

User data are stored in data centers located in secured locations in perfect accordance with the Regional laws of the jurisdiction. Firewalls have been deployed to ensure the proper safeguarding, security, and confidentiality of user data. Wherever required, the Company registers with proper national and local security providers for specific data subjects.

The Company also ensures that the data collected from the user is in compliance with the national and local laws of the particular region.

Changes to the Policy

Globalipay owns the right to change the Privacy Policy at any time. All changes or updates are the sole discretion of the Company. Globalipay clients and users will be updated with any such changes. All changes done will be posted on the company's homepage. Any updates made to any section of this Policy will be posted in the news section of the Globalipay website's homepage.

Users must note that changes will only be made in crucial situations and the users may be notified before that. However, it is the responsibility of the user to regularly visit the Privacy Policy page to keep track of the changes. Your continuous use of Globalipay website ensures that you continue to be bound by the Privacy Policy agreement and any changes made to it.

Withdrawal of Consent

Globalipay gives its users the freedom to withdraw permissions to access to any of their personal information. We will not use or disclose any of the information for which you have refused or withdrawn your consent. We may, however, still continue to use the specific Personal Data to the extent that we are legally allowed to do so. Through this agreement, you also understand that in the case if you choose to limit our access to your Personal Data, we may not be able to provide you with all the services, especially the ones needing access to specific user information.

Contact Us

For further information on Privacy Policy, please send us your query at support@globalipay.com and info@globalipay.com.